

Transition Chesterfield

People like you and me, working towards a future where we are much less reliant on fossil fuels

Transition Chesterfield is a local community group aiming to make Chesterfield more resilient and sustainable. We want to create positive local solutions to the challenge of climate change.

What are we doing to get to a sustainable future?

An annual event providing the opportunity to buy a variety of seed potatoes and other vegetable seeds at low cost, to encourage people to grow their own food.

An organic, community garden, now a separate charity, providing opportunities for people of all ages and abilities to work the land, grow food and develop a sense of community.

Where people can get broken stuff repaired for free, reducing waste and helping people learn how to fix things.

Where people bring any spare fruit, vegetable or flower seeds to swap for free, to get unusual and hard to find varieties or to extend the variety of vegetables grown.

Abundance

A project to harvest unwanted fruit and distribute it free of charge or press into juice.

Climate campaigning

Lobbying for urgent action on climate change on planning applications, council policy, including anti-fracking and divestment from fossil fuels.

Plastic-free

Supporting a campaign for a plastic-free Chesterfield run by Surfers Against Sewage.

We support:

Renewable energy • More energy efficient homes and buildings • Better public transport • More walking and cycling • Less waste • Re-use and repair • Less meat and dairy products • Organic, local food • Local industries serving local markets • Less plastics, fertilisers and other oil-intensive goods • Re-learning skills • Working together.
